

Educating Young Minds

The Children's Museum of Indianapolis is considered an innovator in the museum and education fields. Through 11 interactive galleries, the museum departs from ordinary museums by offering exhibits designed to foster early exploration through:

- Stories, activities and ideas to unfold in each gallery
- Bright, vivid colors and exhibits that capture attention and engage play and learning
- Hands-on exhibits for all ages with materials and labels to guide activities

While formal education is a task of the school, the museum invites visitors to get their hands dirty at a dino dig, drive a bobcat, play in a kid-sized river, climb into a tree house and view a real Egyptian mummy. A day at the museum is one that instills lifelong learning and fosters sharing and memory making for you, your children and your family.
